

DARCIE TRUTTMANN, FCAS, MAAA

Senior Consulting Actuary | Bloomington, Illinois

Darcie serves as a project manager for multiple insurance programs, including captive insurance companies, public entities and self-insured entities. She also serves as a project manager for year-end reserve analyses and statements of actuarial opinion (SAOs) for multi-line insurance companies.

Darcie brings considerable experience in assignments involving cost allocation mechanisms, loss cost projections, simulation methods, captive feasibility studies and financial analyses of insurance companies. She is familiar in applying her expertise to all kinds of alternative market program structures from group captives to large deductible programs. She has worked extensively on many of the 10 largest policyholder-owned alternative risk facilities in the Americas. Darcie has made presentations to brokers, captive finance boards and CFOs regarding loss reserving, future loss projections and how their companies' characteristics impact their actuarial calculations.

In addition, she brings experience in the trucking industry for alternative markets, including development of trucking insurance loss reserve, funding, retention and deductible analyses. She also works in the staffing and construction industry, and works on underground storage tank funds.
